SEPTEMBER 2012

Center for Integrated Access Networks Industry

Fall is in the air, incoming freshmen are wandering around campuses across the country looking confused and lost, one-half of our favorite football teams lost their first game of the season, and our industrial partners have only four months left to make their calendar year goals. Welcome to the September edition of the CIAN Industrial Affiliates Newsletter..

Thank You,
Lloyd J. LaComb, Jr.

Changes in the ILO Office

I wanted to introduce myself, my name is Lloyd LaComb and I am the new Industrial Liaison Officer, taking over for Dan Carothers. Dan will maintain his connections with CIAN by focusing on the photonic integrated circuits programs while we transition the ILO role. My background is in building metrology and imaging equipment for the semiconductor, medical, and research markets. I received my Ph.D. in Applied Physics from Stanford University in 1989 and spent the next twenty years in the high tech industry working my way to the top of the corporate ladder with various companies in Silicon Valley and Tucson, Arizona. I returned to academia in 2010 as a research professor in the College of Optical Sciences at the University of Arizona researching 3D holographic displays and UV lasers. I look forward to meeting everyone over the next few months. Please feel free to contact me with any questions.

In addition to working with Dan to hand off the current projects, we have started our SalesForce.com implementation with a “go live” date of October 1, 2012. We will use the Sales Force application to consolidate the various scattered spreadsheets that the team currently uses to keep track of IAB issues and resolutions, contact information and membership activities – more details will be forthcoming in future issues of the newsletter

Thanks to Dan

I wanted to thank Dan for all his efforts as the ILO and especially for expanding the number of partners to 18 companies. The large increase in industrial partners will be difficult to match but the team is looking forward to the challenge.

I will provide an update on major research activities in the October newsletter but if you would like updates on any the ongoing research efforts please contact me using the information listed above.
